

“Thank you St Stephens” —

for paying for this equipment - an automatic electricity changeover unit - to keep the power on when the mains fails .

to keep babies like these to be installed by these engineers

Francis, Douglas, and Lembani,

....alive, when the power goes off -

which it does quite often!

And also for providing funny and talented people like these, to give us encouragement, mend plumbing, bed screens, and a lot more, which will keep the hospital working well..... Tony Eden, Brian & Sally Lamond

St Stephen's has new toilets but we are getting a roof for our church ...

.....where our Mother's Union can worship and welcome people like Sally!

.....from the staff and patients at St Francis Mission Hospital, Katete, Zambia
